

CHILD ATE CUTICURA

Spread Whole Box of It on Crackers
—Not the Least Injury Resulted.
THUS PROVEN PURE AND SWEET

A New York friend of Cuticura writes: "My three year old son and his sister, after being put to bed on a trip across the Atlantic, investigated the state-room and located a box of graham crackers and a box of Cuticura Ointment. When a search was made for the box, it was found empty and the kid admitted that he had eaten the contents of the entire box spread on the crackers. It cured him of a bad cold and I don't know what else."

No more conclusive evidence could be offered that every ingredient of Cuticura Ointment is absolutely pure, sweet and harmless. If it may be safely eaten by a young child, none but the most beneficial results can be expected to attend its application to even the tenderest skin or youngest infant.

Organized Militia's Annual Inspection

Army Official will Visit Norwich on Tuesday, February 8, to Look Over Both Companies—Third Company's Harvest Social—Plans for Shooting This Season.

Orders were received on Thursday from the adjutant general regarding the annual inspection of the organized militia of the state by an officer of the regular army. The inspection starts the last of January and continues through into March.

The visits of the inspector to this part of the state will be made as follows:

Monday, Feb. 7, 8 p. m. Thirteenth company, Coast Artillery corps, Danielson.

Tuesday, Feb. 8, 8 p. m. Third and Fifth companies, Coast Artillery corps, Norwich.

Wednesday, Feb. 9, 8 p. m. First, Second, Tenth companies, Coast Artillery corps, and Hospital corps, New London.

Friday, Feb. 25, 8 p. m. Company L, First Infantry, Willimantic.

Friday, March 4, 8 p. m. Company G, First Infantry, Rockville.

Field officers, officers of the several staff corps, unassigned officers, coast artillery corps and non-commissioned staff officers will report for inspection with troops at home station on dates assigned. Attention is directed to Paragraph 146-s, Organized Militia Regulations. Commanding officers, coast artillery corps, and First and Second regiments of infantry will issue the necessary orders temporarily attaching men in their own commands where required, and for all other organizations, upon application, the order will be issued by this office.

The order in which companies at each station are placed may not necessarily be the order in which they will be inspected. This will be determined by the inspecting officer.

Uniform for inspection will be the service (olive drab), field duty (see G. O. No. 18, A. G. O., April 28, 1908, page 46), and the blanket roll, made up in accordance with paragraph 486, Infantry Drill Regulations, U. S. A., however, canteen and eating utensils, tin cup inside haversack.

Officers responsible for property are authorized and directed to drop all khaki uniforms from their property account. These uniforms, however, will be kept for use in the target ranges and for such other duty as may be proper.

The commanding officer of the coast artillery corps, First and Second infantry, Connecticut National guard, will make requisition for one service national color and staff to be used for drill purposes, as prescribed in Paragraph 380, U. S. Army Regulations.

By other orders regimental commanders and the commanding officer, coast artillery corps, will detail an officer to make the inspection directed by the last sentence of paragraph III, G. O. No. 36, A. G. O., series 1906, which inspection will be made on the drill night of the company, and the officer detailed will make a report to this office, through military channels, of the result of this inspection.

Third Company Meeting.

The regular weekly drill of the Third company, C. A. C., was held at the armory on Thursday evening, at which there was blanket rolling and preparation for the inspection by Inspector General Schulze next Monday night.

At the company meeting it was voted to have prizes for the shooting this winter, the members to be divided into classes according to their ability in handling the rifle. There will be several classes and in each class a certain score will be fixed and for all those in that class who make that score a subscription to the National Guardsman's magazine will be given. This will be an all winter shoot.

Next Friday night there will be a shoot in which all can participate by paying the admission fee. It will be open to all but experts, who will have a shoot of their own, but in both shoots only bullets will be used and the high man gets the entry fees.

Harvest Social.

The harvest social of the Third company was held Thursday evening after the drill and meeting. There was a large attendance and the evening was most enjoyable. About the hall were arranged booths of cornstarch, at the base of which were pumpkins, while several pumpkin moonshines were doing duty about the hall. Several baskets of fine apples were placed about the hall and greatly enjoyed by the attendants. There were eighteen numbers on the programme, for which the T. A. B. orchestra furnished fine music. In charge of the affair were Corporal Dion, Corporal Bossey and Cook Peckham, and they deserve much credit for the successful result.

SLANDER SUIT FOR $2,000

Brought by Herbert Abrams Against Samuel Levin—Other New Suits.

A slander suit for $2,000 has been brought by Herbert Abrams of New London against Samuel Levin, both of New London, claiming that on November 24 the defendant spoke within the hearing of the plaintiff, saying "He's a crook; he is a thief." For this false and malicious statement the damages are asked.

Ten thousand is the amount claimed by Joseph T. Crutten in his suit against J. T. Williams of New York, formerly of Stamford. It is brought to recover on real estate transactions.

ARE NOW ON SALE.
Can Be Secured at Seven Stores and Later at Postoffice Lobby.

The first supply of Red Cross Christmas stamps has been received and they are now on sale at the Porteous & Co.'s, the Boston Store, G. A. Davis, Cranston & Co.'s, Bliss jewelry store, Miss Gibson's store and Miss Henderson's grocery store on High street. Later they will be placed on sale in the lobby of the postoffice.

It is expected that the people of Norwich will buy them liberally for use as Christmas greetings on letters and packages sent to friends during November and December. An effort will be made to have business houses, professional men, lodges, and other organizations use the stamps on their outgoing mail, not only because the stamp is attractive and carries a hearty greeting, but for the better reason that the money from the sales goes into the Red Cross fund for the suppression of tuberculosis in Norwich. Every stamp sold is a bullet in the Red Cross warfare against the white plague in this state.

In all communities where they are known the Christmas stamp is very popular with men, women and children. The stamps will go through the mails during the next two months. The stamps sell at one cent each, which places them within the easy reach of every giver of a Christmas gift, and the use of the stamps will enrich the kindly sentiment which prevails everywhere at this season of the year.

Encouraging sales have been made thus far and it is expected they will greatly increase as the month advances. The Red Cross Christmas stamp for this year is a bright little "sticker" for use on letters and parcels that is very different in design from the one issued last year. The new stamp was chosen out of 1,500 designs submitted to the American Red Cross by as many different artists over the country. The award for the best design going to Carl Wingate of New York. The stamp is one inch square, printed in bright Christmas colors, red and green, the inscription being in white letters. The most conspicuous thing on the stamp is a red cross, significant of the cause for which the stamp is sold. Above the cross on green holly leaves are clusters of red holly berries. The stamp is surrounded by a border of small red crosses, and the whole design presents a cheerful Christmas appearance when pasted on a letter or package containing a Christmas gift.

The Red Cross society is not at all dismayed by news that Great Britain and Scotland's postoffice authorities have barred the society's Christmas stamps from going through the mails. Stamp orders received this year exceed those of any previous holiday. It is impossible to fill them. Fifteen hundred of the stamps were disposed of at the Universalist church sale, making a welcome addition to the fund, and a number of business houses have shown interest in the effort by taking stamps to use. The Penman company will take several thousand, using them for two weeks. Firms which have already taken the stamps are Norwich Nickel & Brass Co., McCrum-Howell Co., 500, A. C. Swan & Co., 500, Southern New England Telephone Co., 200, Plant-Cadden Co., 200, The Bulletin Co., 100, Edward Chappell Co., 100, Parker-Preston Co., 100, Southern New England Telephone Co., 100.

On Saturday an extension of the sale of the stamps will be made by having young women in Red Cross nurses' uniforms in the postoffice, the Boston Store and Porteous & Mitchell's to sell the stamps.

Little banks are also to be placed around in public places to receive contributions for the fund. The money placed in the banks will not be for the purchase of stamps, but will be a direct contribution to the fund, and it is hoped that considerable amount will be gathered in this way.

Stricken With a Shock.

George Banker of Occum was taken suddenly with a shock Thursday morning about 10 o'clock. While wheeling a wheelbarrow at his home near the car line he dropped.

He received medical attention and Thursday night there did not seem to be any serious effects from the shock. Mr. Banker is a highly respected resident of Occum.

Helping Hands Get About $200.

Financial returns from the recent Christmas sale conducted for two days by the Helping Hands of the Spiritual academy indicate that the net proceeds will be between $150 and $200. This makes it the most successful Christmas sale ever conducted by the society.

BREVITIES.

"My Word, What a Joke!"

A recent cablegram from London contained the information that all social England is laughing over a prank which was played by Mrs. Margot Asquith, the wife of the prime minister, upon a drunken peer. It seems that Mrs. Asquith attended a very formal dinner, and at her side was placed a very noble but very bibulous lord of the realm. The lord tried hard to keep up appearances for a time, but gradually he slipped under the table. Mrs. Asquith thereupon ordered the butler to bring her a pair of men's shoes. These she placed in her lap so that their tips showed above the edge of the table. Then, in a loud voice, she cried out: "How dare you put your feet in my lap?"

This is the greatest joke British society has had for a long time. Doubtless a lady of less wit and resource would have permitted the haughty lord to have slipped entirely under the table to sleep peacefully until he was hauled forth at the end of the dinner and taken home. But this was not Mrs. Asquith's way. She saw a chance to set society talking and to this end unbent her womanly dignity and met the noble lord more than half way. And now, when the noble lords are chuckling and commenting upon the tremendous coup of the prime minister's wife.

It is hard to realize that such an incident could have happened in the social set in which lords and ladies move. To be sure, we have in our own country certain aristocratic circles that periodically do ridiculous and vulgar things, but this society does not represent our best society. One could not imagine the wife of an American cabinet minister performing such a prank as has been attributed to Mrs. Asquith. Nor can we imagine the toleration of a drunken ruck at a state dinner. We do not worship titles to that extent. American men would have handled such a situation firmly, though with a minimum of embarrassment to the women present. There would have been no huge "joke" to set all society laughing. The affair would have been considered shocking and disgusting, and the "noble lord" would have been kicked into the street.—Kansas City Journal.

HOTELS BURNED AT OCEAN VIEW

Norfolk Pleasure Resort Nearly Wiped Out.

Norfolk, Va., Dec. 2.—Hard work by the volunteer firemen early this morning probably saved Ocean View, Norfolk's Coney Island, from total destruction by fire. Six large frame buildings, including four summer hotels and several smaller structures, were partially burned, but the flames were checked before they had reached the principal part of the resort. The loss probably will be within $50,000, partially covered by insurance.

Theodore to Willie.

Africa, November.
Dear Willie: Well, I suppose you wonder why I have not written to you before. Well, I have been pretty busy shooting big game, as I suppose you have read in the papers. It was quite sport, but not the kind you would like to enjoy, you being more sedentary in disposition than what I am. I got a lot of elephants and lions and leopards and zebras, and once or twice they pretty near got me, but I was too much for them of course.

Well, it is about time for me to start back to America now, so I thought I would send you a few lines to let you know I was coming. I suppose you have mist me a great deal, it must of been pretty hard to have me go away and leave you without any playmates in the neighborhood except that Adrich gang, but I will be back soon, Willie, and you needn't play with them any more after I get there.

Don't let them lead you into any scrapes, they will pretend to be friends with you but you know them kind of boys can't be good friends to good boys. That Sherman boy is full of tricks, and that Ballinger kid will put up a job on you if he gets a chance, and as for Joe Cannon, it doesn't pay to go around with a boy that smokes so much. If they have been getting you into trouble in the neighborhood I will fix them when I get back. I can lick the hole gang with one hand tied behind my back. Now I must close, so no more at present. Don't study too hard, and if I was you I would get out of doree more. Your true friend,
—THEODORE.
